

Week 6 Midterm Guide

Spring 2017

The midterm covers all the material through Sec 14.2 of the Course Notes, except for code. There will be no code to read nor to write.

Six questions, that is, twice the length of a quiz. 70 minutes, that is, more than twice the duration of a quiz. Questions are worth 8 points each. In addition you get 1 point for writing your name on the quiz and another 1 point for writing your answers within the Gradescope-acceptable borders provided in the exam. (If you write outside the borders, we won't see what you've written there.)

Study:

- All your homework problems
- All your quiz problems
- All the examples done in lecture; they are in Course Notes
- All the practice problems you have done based on the weekly guides

If you still have time, work out the old Stat 134 midterm and the current Stat 134 midterm practice sheet. These are posted under Practice on the course home page and on Piazza.

Pitman's text book has two midterms on pages 490-491, with answers.
